

Why write daily reports when you can speak them?

Now, your basic mobile phone is the only tool you need to do accurate daily reports without hassle, frustration and legal pain.

Easy and simple.

It's as simple as talking into your mobile phone as you go. Take mobile phone pictures, videos, email or text. The NoteVault website captures the information and transcribes it for easily printed documents. Simple as that.

Daily reports done faster, easier, better.

No more time-consuming written reports.
No more after-the-fact inaccuracies.
No more information gaps that leave you exposed to claims.

It's also a management tool.

NoteVault is also a useful Project Management tool for all invited team members. Post messages. View the action. Keep everyone on the same page. All of it completely secured and private so no one but invited members can participate. NoteVault also keeps an independent record of events – including hosting and time stamping – making the data irrefutable.

Easy pricing, too.

Finally, this invaluable tool is also a great value. For a small service fee that can be less than what it costs you now, you have protection against lawsuits that can cost you millions.
